The atmosphere of this dining space draws inspiration from the landscapes of southern Italy. At the heart of the room, a curved counter structures the whole space: it is around this counter that the life of the restaurant unfolds, between visible cooking and continuous service. The large central table sets the tone. It evokes the long Mediterranean tables, meals that stretch on, the pleasure of being together. Banquettes and seating accompany it in a spirit of spontaneity and closeness. People settle in, share, and stay.

The architecture celebrates simplicity and generosity, true to the spirit of the Italian table.
